

During the initial days of JPS, the first planning committee prepared a 66 chart for initiation of new members and officers. Each "6" of the company's 66 trademark would represent 6 lights for a total of 12 virtues to be pledged by new members upon their initiation in the presence of other members. Named the "Lights of the 66," this code of honor is still used in officer initiations.

The 12 lights are:

- Courage
- Fidelity
- Honesty
- Integrity
- Happiness and Joy
- Purity
- Faith and Hope
- Obedience
- Charity
- Truth
- Kindness and Unselfishness
- Friendliness
